Dear Friends:

It is a great pleasure to join the Russian Children's Welfare Society in welcoming everyone to its 54th Annual Petroushka Ball.

My administration strongly believes that every child deserves access to the tools to live a healthy, productive life, and this event offers an important opportunity for New Yorkers to extend a hand to kids in need. Tonight's Petroushka Ball, one of the most anticipated Russian-American events in our great city, will help raise funding in support of the Russian Children's Welfare Society's continued efforts to uplift children and improve their quality of life. Since its founding in 1926, RCWS has provided a fresh start to underserved children across Russia through a range of educational opportunities, medical treatments, orphanage programs, and more. I look forward to all this organization will continue to accomplish in the years ahead, and I applaud all those in attendance this evening for doing their part to set today's youth on the path to a more hopeful tomorrow.

On behalf of the City of New York, please accept my best wishes a festive ball and continued success.

Sincerely,

To Benefit the

Russian Children's Welfare Society

Dear Guests,

Welcome! I'm happy to tell you that the Petroushka Ball is 54 years old!

The Russian Children's Welfare Society is in its 93 year and still carrying out its mission. At a time when the world has become a bit cold and self-absorbed there is ever the need for warmth and caring for the disadvantaged children in Russia. Today, there are thousands of orphaned children with no family to care for them, with limited opportunity to receive needed medical treatment and operations. These children cannot even imagine going to college to prepare for a profession or the career they dream of. And yet, this is precisely where this charity shines.

Since 1926 the RCWS has cared for and given hope to thousands of children thanks to donations from people like you. It all started with 5 ladies of noble birth who worked to help families with children who had escaped the Bolshevik Revolution and then those who escaped Communism. In the years following, the Society supported orphanages with vocational training equipment, beds, building renovations, even new cars in which to transport children to doctor's visits and other necessary appointments. In 2003 the RCWS established a college scholarship program for orphanage graduates. We have 154 students in colleges and universities at this time and close to 90 of our scholarship recipients have graduated and found employment.

The Society manages many other projects and initiatives that we would take great joy in telling you about. What could be more wonderful than helping children? Our office is open if you have any questions; please feel free to contact us. Your support is so important; I'm thanking you in advanced for any gift you may make.

We wish you an evening of joy and feeling for the Russian culture.

Yours truly,

Beatrice M. Fekula

THE TROIKA – ТРОЙКА

The Troika (тройка – triplet or trio) is the traditional Russian carriage drawn by a team of three horses harnessed abreast, most often pulling a sleigh. It has become a symbol of Russia and is widely employed in folklore, movies, paintings and literature.

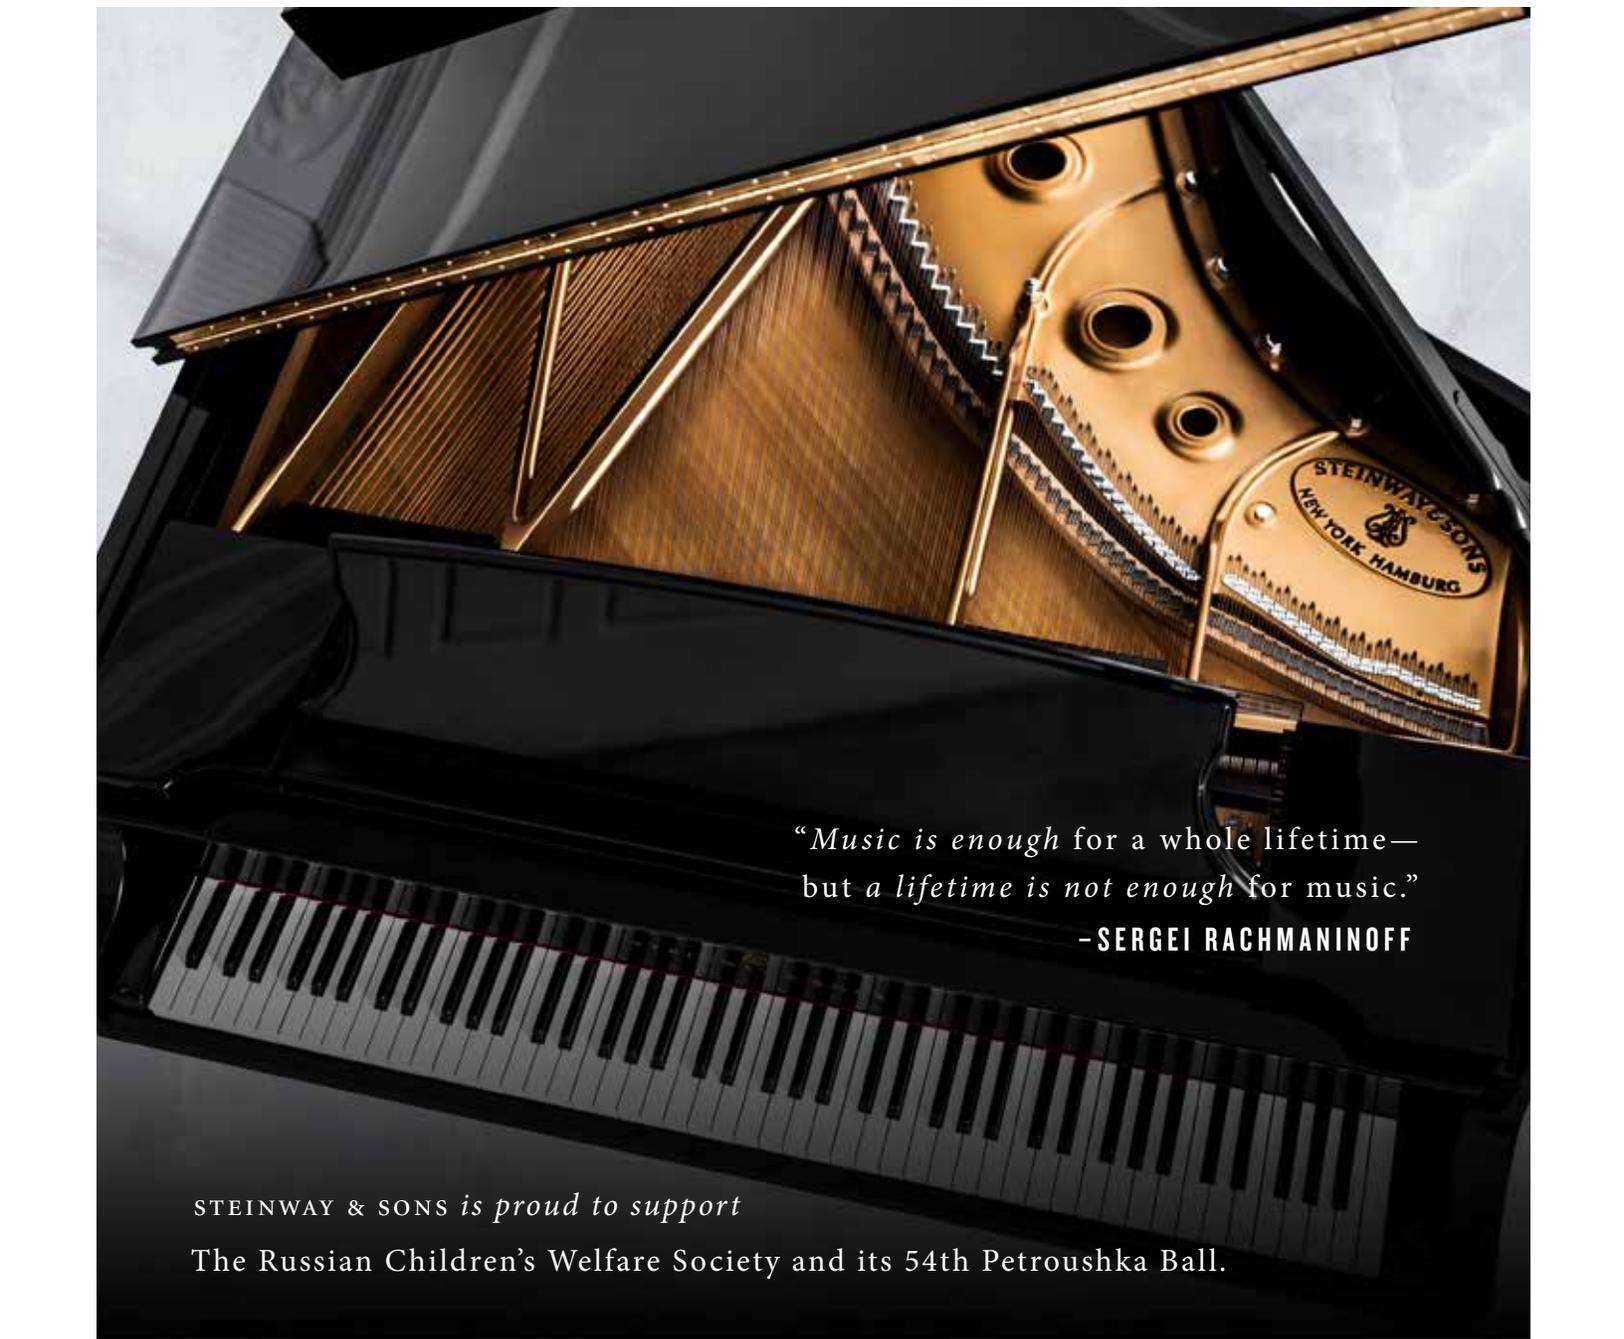

Troikas first appeared in the 17th century and were used mainly for postal services, for transporting passengers across long distances, and later in festivities such as weddings and other religious celebrations. By the mid-19th century, troika races had become extremely popular in Russia, especially during winter. The troika is best known for its high speeds – up to 50 kilometers per hour/30 miles per hour.

Such high speeds were possible due to the special training of both driver and horses and also to the unique arrangement of the horses. The horse in the middle, called the shaft horse (коренник – korennik), trots and acts like a locomotive, while the horses on the sides – tracers (пристяжные – pristyazhniye) maintain a brisk gallop. This makes the troika the only method of harnessing horses in which different horses use different gaits. This method became popular not only for its significant rate or speed, but also for endurance, good cargo capacity, maneuverability, and safety.

Driving a troika required special skills and training from a young age. The profession of troika coachman was hereditary and prestigious among peasants.

As the troika became widespread, the creation of special signals to regulate troika traffic became necessary. Eventually, bells on the harness were introduced and became an integral part of the troika. A troika was usually accompanied by about 100 bells on the bridle, on the saddle and inside the many harness brushes. The singing of the many bells, some in minor, others in major keys, combined with the sound of hooves running, created a unique melody, pleasing to the ears. But troikas were also a joy for the eyes with their richly decorated harnesses and bows adorned with painting and fretwork.

The troika – the theme of this year's Petroushka Ball – is a beloved symbol of Russia and the Russian winter, conveying a sense of beauty, freedom, excitement, and daring.

About the Society

This year, the Russian Children's Welfare Society proudly celebrates the 93rd Anniversary of its founding and the 54th Anniversary of the Petroushka Ball. In the spring of 1926, the original organizers pledged their commitment to improving the lives of Russian children living outside the Soviet Union.

The direction of the Russian Children's Welfare Society's many initiatives had been guided to a great extent by the unending political and social flux of the 20th century. The Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 prompted the migration of large numbers of Russians to Western Europe, Asia, and North and South America. By the early thirties, the Society had ten branches operating throughout the United States and was sending money and material assistance to schools and organizations in locales as diverse as Latvia, Estonia, Poland, Finland, France, Germany, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Harbin, Shanghai, and Istanbul.

RCWS gained recognition from the Presidential War Relief Control Board as an approved charity for work abroad during the Second World War. By 1950, the Society was again sending relief to 14 countries.

With the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991, Russia's infrastructure left an alarming number of children disenfranchised. Given this reality, and, given that Europe and North and South America had become self-sufficient, RCWS shifted its focus to assisting children at risk living in Russia. The Russian Children's Welfare Society now directs all of its yearly aid to children in Russia by funding an array of projects that include medical programs, college scholarships for orphans, schools and orphanages, and rehabilitation centers for children with special needs.

A SELECTION OF INITIATIVES UNDERTAKEN BY THE RCWS IN 2018 THANKS TO THE KIND SUPPORT OF OUR DONORS:

MEDICAL PROGRAMS

"GIVE BEAUTY BACK TO THE CHILDREN"- PEDIATRIC MAXILLOFACIAL SURGERY FUND

Thousands of Russian children are burdened by unsightly facial deformities as a result of congenital defects, tumors, cleft lips, cleft palates, and other traumas. Only two or three hospitals in all of Russia have specialized surgeons to undertake cases that often require a series of surgeries and highly advanced medical technology. Consequently, treatment is often a luxury few families have access to even when it is a dire necessity for a child's physical and psychological well-being.

In 2010, RCWS launched "Give Beauty Back to the Children," in partnership with Professor Vitaly Roginsky, Head of the Moscow Center for Maxillofacial Surgery (MCMS) and Lev Ambinder, Head of the Russian Aid Foundation (Rusfond). MCMS is one of the most innovative facilities in Russia providing treatment and rehabilitation for children with facial deformities.

Thanks to the joint efforts of Rusfond, MCMS and RCWS, the "Give Beauty Back to the Children" program has forever altered the lives of over 2,000 children suffering from facial deformities. The average cost per surgery is in the range of $2,500-$5,000. Thanks to our mutual donors' support and the help of advanced medical micro technology, Professor Roginsky and his staff have witnessed many of their patients' personalities flourish with hope and happiness as they gain the ability to do what is second nature to most – to smile.

Russian Children's Clinical Hospital / Charitable foundation to assist sick and abandoned children "Deti.Msk.Ru", Moscow

In 2018, RCWS provided assistance to the Russian Children's Clinical Hospital (RCCH) via equipment and enhanced medical technologies. RCWS sponsored a new surgical drill (the Acculan 3Ti and supplies totaling $12,708) that was urgently needed to treat epilepsy and other medical conditions for over 150 children annually from different regions of Russia.

EDUCATIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS AND PROGRAMS

During the sixteen years since the inception of the RCWS scholarship program, the number of participants has grown from 3 in the 2003-2004 academic year to over 150 in 2018-2019. Currently, RCWS is supporting 154 students in the Pskov, Yaroslavl and Moscow regions. To date, the scholarship program has been enormously successful in providing a support structure for students as they transition from living in an orphanage to attending a university on their own. For an annual cost of approximately $2,000 per student, the Society is helping orphans successfully complete an academic degree or vocational training in order to steer them in the direction of a promising future. RCWS requires academic transcripts from each scholarship recipient, as well as reports on the use of the stipend to assure accountability. About 90 of our scholarship recipients have thus far completed their schooling and found employment. This is an outstanding achievement of which we are very proud.

We would like to share several stories. Among our new scholarship recipients is Yuri A. who is a 16-year-old social orphan, and now a 1st-year student at the Dnovsky Railway Technical School, majoring in diesel locomotive driving. Yuri's mom was deprived of parental rights due to alcoholism and his father is currently in jail. While living at the orphanage, Yuri started taking music classes and playing the drums in the school orchestra. He also engaged in football, basketball, and volleyball and received numerous awards in sport competitions. Yuri wrote in his letter to RCWS: "My Dad, who worked as a taxi driver, got into an accident that killed a person and he ended up in prison. After this tragic accident my mother began to drink. I had to take care of my younger siblings – a sister and a brother. After my mom lost her parental rights, we ended up in the "Center for Abandoned Children". When I was little, I dreamed of becoming a football player, a fireman, or a driver. Also I dreamed of traveling and visiting different countries. Later I decided on a profession that, in my opinion, will help to fulfill my dream – I want to become a locomotive driver. The RCWS scholarship will help to cover books, studying materials, and other expenses. Currently, I have no one to help me financially and very much need the RCWS support. I hope that after graduating from the Technical School my life will change for the better. I will start working and might be able to visit different countries and see the world. When I start earning money, I want to help my younger brother Misha and sister Yulia, who are still living at the orphanage."

This note is from Svetlana E., who graduated last summer from the Pskov State University, with a degree in Technology and Design: "My final year at college has ended. Your support really helped me tremendously. It is sad that by graduating college, I will no longer be a part of the RCWS Scholarship program. These three-and-a-half years as an RCWS scholarship recipient flew by so fast! RCWS support was invaluable to me and incredibly important for my future. Thanks to the RCWS scholarship program I was able to meet such wonderful people. This final year was very challenging academically for me. In addition, I had to say goodbye to university life, pass the state exam, and present my graduate paper. Now I am ready for the next chapter of my life. I have already found and accepted a job offer – I will be working as a teacher. I would like to thank the RCWS and all the donors for your support! I would not be able to graduate and receive a college diploma without your help. What you do for us is so important for young people like myself! It makes me happy that there are people across the world who care and are ready to help. Thank you for supporting me! Wishing RCWS and the donors all the best!"

Last summer Alexander S., RCWS scholarship recipient, graduated from the Pskov Agrotechnical College with an Electrician & Technician diploma. Alexander grew up at the Krasnogorodsky Orphanage. In his thank-you note to RCWS, Alexander wrote: "There were many ups and downs during my studies, but I was able to solve problems and overcome all the difficulties, thanks to the support of RCWS. I am immensely grateful for your help!"

RCWS has been expanding the scholarship program, adding new partners and increasing the number of participants. Currently, RCWS provides scholarships to 15 young musicians affiliated with the Spivakov Foundation, established by renowned concert violinist Vladimir Spivakov, to help disadvantaged children in Russia develop their musical and artistic talent.

SCHOOLS

St. Alexis School & Orphanage, Yaroslavl region

Established in 1993, the St. Alexis School & Orphanage serves orphaned children, enrolling 285 students. Education is provided free of charge, and the school is consistently ranked as one of the top schools in Russia. Over 100 children have graduated from the St. Alexis School, and 80% of them are continuing their education at top universities and colleges in Russia. To increase the enrollment of students, in 2018 RCWS sponsored new furniture to equip Physics, Chemistry and Biology classrooms at the St. Alexis School (49 cabinets and desks totaling $15,085).

II Donskoi Cadet Corps named after Tsar Nicholas II, Rostov-on-Don

The II Donskoi Cadet Corps named after Tsar Nicholas II was established in 1995 and it is one of the first cadets schools revived in Russia. In addition to providing a high-quality secondary education, the Cadet Corps objective is to raise intelligent, responsible, culturally educated, moral and respectful young people. A total of 286 students currently attend the cadet school, which is based in Rostov-on-Don in southern Russia.

In 2018, thanks to a direct donation, RCWS was able to sponsor 21 new computers to upgrade the IT class equipment for the young cadets enrolled at the school.

Additionally, in summer 2018, thanks to the direct contribution, RCWS was able to cover a pilgrimage trip to Yekaterinburg for a group of young cadets from the II Donskoi Cadet Corps. The long-awaited trip to Yekaterinburg took place in July 2018, commemorating 100th anniversary of the execution of Tsar Nicholas II and his family in the basement of the Ipatiev House. Hundreds of thousands of pilgrims from Russia and all over the world visited Yekaterinburg in 2018 to remember the last Russian royal family. Among the tragic sights the students visited was Ganina Yama near the village of Koptyaki where the imperial family was buried in mass graves in 1918.

St. Nicholas School, Kislovodsk, Northern Caucasus

Established in 1992, the St. Nicholas School provides a well-rounded education, enrolling 250 students. Over 90% of graduating students are accepted into leading universities in Russia. Besides regular school subjects the students study Latin, Greek, and Church Slavonic. Extra-curricular activities include choir singing, art studio, children's theater, and various sports activities. St. Nicholas School occasionally rewards its students with trips beyond the classroom walls to enrich their academic experience and to offer them a chance to broaden their horizons. In 2018, RCWS provided funding to cover the extra-curricular educational trips, compensation for 27 teachers, building renovation and books for the library, totaling $14,092.

Educational Center "Big Change" (Bolshaya Peremena), Moscow

Established in 2002, "Big Change" helps orphans and disenfranchised children to transition into adulthood, enrolling 80 students. Teachers prepare a tailor-made education for each student, including communi-

About the Society

education skills training, speech therapy for youngsters with learning disabilities, and tutoring (Math, Literature, Physics, Chemistry, Computer Science, History, Biology, Geography). In 2018, RCWS provided funds towards these educational programs, professional tutoring and extracurricular activities for 70 students totaling $16,000.

Tutaev School/Righteous St. John of Kronstadt Orthodox School, Tutaev, Yaroslavl region

Established in 1991, the Tutaev School provides primary and secondary education, currently enrolling 110 children. The school offers students from disenfranchised backgrounds to participate in community projects, extracurricular activities, and anti-drug campaigns. Additionally, the school assists students in cultivating their creative talents by offering art and sculpture classes, music and theater classes, a journalism club, and other activities. In 2018, RCWS provided funds for extracurricular activities, new computers, books, art supplies, sports equipment, and security cameras, totaling $15,000.

ORPHANAGES

Our goal is to enable orphanages to meet basic needs, and to promote comprehensive programs that help orphans grow to be healthy and independent adults.

Orphanage for children with special needs in Shatura, Moscow region

The Orphanage of Shatura provides 1st to 9th grade education to 182 students with special needs. Living conditions at the school had not been improved since its establishment in the 1960s. In 2017, RCWS sponsored the installation of 27 new windows in the classrooms and children's bedrooms in the orphanage. In 2018, RCWS sponsored the replacement of 36 remaining old windows with new, insulated windows, totaling $11,919. We are thrilled that during this cold winter the small residents at the Orphanage in Shatura are living and studying in a much warmer and healthier environment because of the new windows.

Krasnogorodsky Orphanage, Pskov Region, Russia

The Krasnogorodsky Orphanage, established in 1988, currently houses 103 children between the ages of 6 and 20 with various health issues. The city center of Pskov is located almost 160 kilometers from the orphanage. In the past RCWS sponsored a new car for the orphanage to drive the children to the city hospital for treatment, check-ups and prophylactic procedures.

In 2018, RCWS provided funds ($7,062) to establish the Vocational Training Center to provide professional job training to the students, improve carpentry and plaster-painting workshops by acquiring vocational training equipment and supplies to motivate students. This Center helps to prepare students to live independently and teaches them carpentry and painting/plastering skills.

Potma Orphanage for children with special needs, Mordovia

In 2018 RCWS received a request for help from the Potma Orphanage for children with severe disabilities. Lost in the woods of Mordovia, the Orphanage needed to upgrade their territory and roads near the facility to allow kids to go outdoors in their wheel-chairs. This renovation was completed in the fall of 2018 and included the construction of pedestrian roads, a parking area, the greening of the territory, and upgrading the recreational areas.

We are happy to report that thanks to the RCWS and our donors' support ($10,000 in direct donations) the territory outside the Potma Orphanage has become much more accessible for the children who can now enjoy the fresh air, moving and playing outside.

REHABILITATION CENTERS

Rehabilitation Center "Inspiration", Moscow region, Russia

Rehabilitation Center "Inspiration" was founded in 1999 and provides services to children between the ages of 6 months and 18 years with various physical and mental disabilities who are either orphans or come from low-income families. The main goal of the Center is to help children to integrate into society through rehabilitation. There are several long-term, permanent programs provided by the Center such as a Theater Studio, a hippo therapy program, and a hairdresser vocational training studio. There are also classes offered at the Center - school preparatory classes in mathematics, art studio, English class, speech therapy, and music studio. Hundreds of children have benefited from participating in activities offered at the center and 40 children currently reside on the grounds. In 2018, RCWS provided funds towards food, heating, renovation, educational equipment, art supplies, and rehabilitation programs, totaling $15,000.

Rehabilitation Center "Krug", Moscow

Established in 1989, Krug Rehabilitation Center provides educational and rehabilitation programs to children with learning and physical disabilities, currently enrolling 90-100 students. The Center's programs are designed to help the participants gradually integrate into society while understanding how to best manage their disabilities. The Center also provides part-time employment for children with learning disabilities to help them obtain the workplace training necessary to find a job in the future. In conjunction with their socio-cultural courses, students are offered a stimulating opportunity to experience a new environment outside of their classroom. A vital aspect to children's development, particularly those with autism spectrum disorders, is travel. When children are introduced to new environments and are culturally stimulated, they become noticeably engaged and joyful. In 2018, RCWS covered summer rehabilitation program and travel expenses for 40 children with autism spectrum disorders and their parents, totaling $5,689.

Rehabilitation Center "Predolenie L", Moscow

Founded in 1992, the Rehabilitation Center "Predolenie L" in Moscow provides training, education, and physical therapy for disabled children from orphanages and low income families. The goal of the Center is to prepare children to be fully active members of society. The Center prides itself on its unique equine therapy program for children with disabilities. While riding horses, children feel a unique spirit of freedom and relaxation: no need to sit in a wheelchair, hold onto crutches or grasp someone's hand.

About the Society

Currently 26 children with special needs are taking the equine-assisted therapy classes at the Center. Each child participating in the program receives 20 free lessons (1-2 times a week) over the course of 8 months. The goal of the equine therapy program is to help children improve their balance, tone their muscles, enhance blood circulation, boost their metabolism, and alleviate depression.

Here is a story about one of the children enrolled at the Center's equine therapy program. Bogdan, 10 years old, is unable to move and is being fed through a tube. His grandmother was happy to report that after the course of horse therapy at the Preodolenie L Center Bogdan's back and neck muscles became stronger and he no longer suffers from the digestive tract spasms. During a recent equine therapy class Bogdan was sitting straight on his horse and enjoying the ride.

RCWS has been supporting the Center's efforts since 2000. In 2018, RCWS provided $17,630 to cover the upkeep and food for horses, riding equipment and other key expenses to run the equine therapy program for the next 8 months.

Rehabilitation Center "Nelishnie Deti", Moscow

Established in 2007, "Nelishnie Deti" provides mental and trauma services, workshops and counselling to children and families in crisis. In the past, the services were offered to survivors of the 2004 Beslan tragedy, the 2002 Moscow theater hostage crisis and the 2018 Kemerovo fire, among others. In 2018, RCWS provided $10,000 towards psychologist consultations and trips, art supplies, educational materials, and a summer rehabilitation camp for children and families in crisis.

YELKA - ANNUAL NEW YEAR AND CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

It has been 19 years since RCWS organized our first Yelka, a modest Russian Christmas and New Year Party in Moscow for disadvantaged children. Today, over 1,000 children annually participate in RCWS's Yelka festivities and are treated to a Christmas show and presents. This past December, over 1,000 children traveled great distances to participate in the 19th annual Yelka event at the Cathedral of Christ the Savior's concert hall in Moscow, to see the holiday show "Master of Winter Forest," and to receive a gift.

The selection process for Yelka participants is highly competitive as they are selected based on academic merit. They spend months diligently studying and striving to be the best in hopes of being awarded a trip to Moscow, a trip that is oftentimes the highlight of their year.

Additionally, RCWS personnel and volunteers, together with "Ded Moroz" (Russian Santa Claus), visited the Orphanage in Shatura and over 100 little patients at the Moscow Center for Maxillofacial Surgery and the Institute of Rheumatology in Moscow to distribute gifts and bring some magic to their holiday.

Please visit our web site www.rcws.org for more information about the RCWS on-going projects.

RCWS has been tax-exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code since 1944.

The Society is proud of its accomplishments in its 93-year history, and pays tribute to all of our predecessors and donors who transformed the organization into one of the leading charities in Russia today.

St. John of Kronstadt Home for the Elderly

Was founded in Los Angeles over 35 years ago. It is a non-profit organization under the auspices of the Fund of St. John of Kronstadt, which elects the Board of Directors. The Home operations as the Assisted Living community are subject to California state laws and are governed by Social Security Administration.

The St. John Kronstadt Home provides elderly people with home-like living environment: a separate room, Russian food four times a day, room cleaning and laundry services. If necessary, the personnel of the Home are helping the residents with dressing, bathing, and taking medications.

Primary care physician, various medical specialists including a hygienist and a dentist, are regularly invited to the Home. Assistance with doctor visits is also provided. Special care and attention are given to those who underwent a surgery, or had an illness.

The St. John of Kronstadt Home signifies the special style, traditions, generational continuity, professionalism, comfort, and coziness! It ensures dignified, wise aging filled with warmth, care, and love. The service personnel shares this approach and attitude towards their duties at the Home.

No qualified person in need of such accommodations regardless of his or her financial situation is turned away from the Home. So your financial as well as other kinds of support is essential for the Home to provide such vital services for the aged and often lonely people. After all, none of us is getting any younger and it is likely that at a certain point, we'll be looking for such a place for our loved ones or even for ourselves.

*In any great relationship,

Take this pair of hall chairs whose carved images mirror the other. Just having one simply does not have the impact of having the pair.

The same is true with the Russian Children's Welfare Society. Without your unwavering support, the RCWS would not impact the lives of so many children as it does today.

We at Mill House Antiques, like you, support the RCWS's mission and believe what we do in life mirrors the impact we have on others.

Vodka Beluga Gold Line is a chef-d'oeuvre of vodka production with a unique and complicated recipe. The basis for this vodka is made from hyaline artesian water from Siberian springs and malt spirit. The specific feature of malt spirit manufacturing is the use of coashed malt enzymes that significantly improve the taste of Beluga Gold Line. It is malt that gives this vodka a fuller "non-diluted" taste and favor. Vodka Beluga Gold Line is produced in limited quantity and was created for very special occasions.
